

SØK 1101, Environmental and Resource Economics, V-2018

Candidate: 10008

This was an exceptionally high quality exam paper that stood out. In the exam paper the student demonstrated a high level of understanding of the course material, both in terms of concepts and the underlying technical theory and models. In addition, they went beyond this to carefully consider the implications of these models and to apply the insights from the course material to real world examples and settings.

Colin Green